

Contents

James McConnel & Frank Ferguson

Introduction 7

Kevin James

'In no degree inferior': Scotland and 'tourist development' in late-Victorian Ireland 11

Clare M. Norcio

Societies and seminaries: technological exchange in Ulster agriculture 23

S. Karly Kehoe

Irish migrants and the recruitment of Catholic Sisters in Glasgow, 1847–1878 35

Andrew R. Holmes

Irish Presbyterian commemorations of their Scottish past, c.1830–1914 48

Frank Ferguson

'The third character': the articulation of Scottish identities in two Irish writers 62

Patrick Maume

From Scotland's storied land: William McComb and Scots-Irish
Presbyterian identity 76

Peter Gray

Thomas Chalmers and Irish poverty 93

Matthew Potter

The urban local state in Scotland and Ireland to 1900: parallels and contrasts 108

Susan Kelly

Tuberculosis cures used in Ireland, 1700–1950 119

Richard B. McCready

St Patrick's Day in Dundee, c.1850–1900: a contested Irish institution in a Scottish context 134

Amy O'Reilly

'All Irishmen of good character': the Hibernian Society of Glasgow, 1792–1824 147

Máirtín Ó Catháin

Michael Collins and Scotland 160

Notes on contributors 177

Index 179