NOTES

David Haslam lived in Cannon Street, Kells, County Meath, and worked as a Bailiff and Steward on Headfort Estate. During the tenure of his office he kept a reference book detailing some information on Estate business and holdings.

David Haslam's reference book was copied and distributed on CD by John Nelson from Kilmainham Kells in 2004 by permission of the then owner, Sean Daly, Kilmainham, Kells, County, Meath. The detail included in this publication is drawn entirely from this work.

David's book starts with an index to its contents which covers 154 folios. The book appears to have been compiled in the 1860's with entries in a column entitled 'Observations' continuing up to 1871 (folio 31), however, one entry in folio 133 refers to a lease which was to run from March 1872. The book index may not provide insight into all its content, e.g. Index 15/16 which refers to Censuses taken on the Cavan Estate in 1860 and 1862 are enhanced by a summary of these Censuses which include one taken in 1864. Folio 75 has a reference to a Census taken in 1858. The book lists the names of people who held properties from Headfort Estate under yearly rent or leases. These properties were located in Cavan, Meath, and Dublin.

Terms of the leases are listed in a column entitled 'Observations. Some Cavan leases are for lives of Emigrants living in America and Queensland. Tenants with holdings on the Dublin Estate held leases from 91 years to 300 years. One entry records the granting of a 99 year lease on the 30th October 1871 for premises in King Street Dublin. The previous lease was given in 1801. Some of the script in the column entitled 'Observations is difficult to decipher and may not be included in the printed format. In the 'Observations column where David has the following 'not A. M.L. one should read, not A Male Lessee.

A table listing the number of individual farms in Headfort Estates in Meath and Cavan is included under the following headings, number under 5 acres, number over 5 and under 10, number over 10 and under 20, number over 20 and under 50, number over 50 and under 100, number 100 acres and over. Details of tenancies of farms on Headfort's holdings in Ardamagh near Kilmainhamwood County Meath are also listed as are Headfort bogs. The book contains a 'Tabular statement of annuities and other expenses' on the Headfort Estate. David Haslam's wages are recorded as £20 per annum while Headfort's chief agent G. T. Dalton Esq. draws a salary of £600 per annum. The Earl of Bective received £500.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I wish to thank Sean Daly's for his permission to copy and publish the content of David Haslam's reference book to Headfort Estate. My thanks are extended to James Harte and other staff members from the National Library of Ireland for their help and advice when I researched material from the Headfort Estate Collection.

I appreciate the courteous help extended to me by Ciaran Mangan, Tom French, and the staff of the Kells and Navan libraries in Meath, and the encouragement provided by Willie Carr from Kells Archeological and Historical Society.

Finally, I also wish to thank my daughter Monica Nelson for her invaluable help in editing the publication and Dearbhla Walshe who worked on the typed copy.

This reference book only details tenants who paid rent to Headfort Estate, under tenants are not listed. Extracts from the 1821 National Census for Cavan which are available free on the National Archives of Ireland web site and Griffiths Valuation c1854 provides extra detail. No National Census records are available for Kells Co. Meath, before 1901. Griffith's valuation c1854 is available for Kells.

The following publication by John Nelson provides more detail about tenants and under tenants on Headfort Estate properties in the town of Kells c1865.

Census of the Town and Parks of Kells, County Meath, taken by Henry Simmonds in January 1865, reproduced by courtesy of the National Library of Ireland, edited by John and Monica Nelson, and published in print [2014]

This identifies the principal occupier of each property by name (some also by Nick Name). Tenants trade is listed. The number of males and females in each property under and over 10 years of age and the number of servants and apprentices are also listed. Many have their religion noted as either Protestant or Catholic. The number unemployed over and under ten years of age are recorded. Livestock numbers are listed. Rents paid by principal tenants are recorded per six months, under tenants per week. Most tenants are recorded as being from Kells, however, for those from elsewhere their time in Kells is recorded. Some of these people are listed as coming from surrounding towns, townlands, and other places in County Meath. Others came from the Counties of, Cavan, Louth, Westmeath, Dublin, Monaghan, Waterford, Wexford, Limerick, Tipperary, Kilkenny, Laois (Queens County), Armagh, and a couple from England. The original Census is held by the National Library of Ireland in its collection of Headfort Estate Papers ref. Ms. 25,423.

The National Library of Ireland will make its microfilm collection of Catholic parish registers c1740s to 1880s available free online by summer 2015. (N.L.I. Press release dated 1 Dec 2014). The records of baptisms or marriages include names of godparents or witnesses.

Other works by John Nelson, Kilmainham Kells, County Meath, Ireland

1. 'Alexandered: portrait of Sir Jerome Alexander from Norfolk, who acquired the reputation of being a hanging judge in seventeenth century Ireland'. [2014].

Some details of the first Thomas Taylor in Ireland and his purchase of Kells lands which laid the foundation for Headfort Estates are included in this book. Part of Thomas Taylor's work as a sub Commissioner on the Court of Claims was to effect business with Jerome Alexander.

134 Irish acres of Jerome's holding near Kells became part of the Headfort Estate after his great grandson Sir William Barker sold his interest to Thomas Taylor first Earl of Bective.

The content of this book provides details from Jerome Alexander's life not previously included in any other publications. It enables the reader acquire a better understanding of what motivated this man, and why his life and activities impacted so profoundly on people in many sections of society in England and Ireland. At different times the interests of Kings, Princes, and Parliament benefited or suffered by his activities. Even a cursory perusal of the indices of person and place names in this publication will encourage further reading and research.

2. Population decline and renewal in Kilmainham, Kells 1841 – 1923: by John Nelson, in Studies in Local History Meath, Edited by Liam McNiff. [2000].

3. Winds of change in the Town of Kells, County Meath, during the 1830's and 1840s: due for publication in 2015.
