Contents

Preface 7

Oonagh Walsh
Introduction 9

1 IMAGININGS

Declan Kiberd
Republican self-fashioning: the journal of Wolfe Tone 16

Clíona Ó Gallchoir
Orphans, upstarts and aristocrats: Ireland and the idyll of adoption in the work of Madame de Genlis 36

Liam Harte
Immigrant self-fashioning: the autobiographies of the Irish in Britain, 1856–1934 47

Peter Denman
Two versions of home and abroad from the Peninsular Campaign: Vandeleur and 'The Burial of Sir John Moore' 62

Kathleen Costello-Sullivan
'Who is Kim?': Rudyard Kipling and the haunting of the colonial imagination 71

2 PROFESSIONS

Louise Miskell
'The heroic Irish doctor'?: Irish immigrants in the medical profession in nineteenth-century Wales 82

Elizabeth Malcolm
'What would people say if I became a policeman?': the Irish policeman abroad 95

Diane M. Hotten-Somers
Moral maids and materialistic mistresses: Irish domestic servants and their American employers, 1850–1920 108

Nini Rodgers
Richard Robert Madden: an Irish anti-slavery activist in the Americas 119

Oonagh Walsh
'Sketches of missionary life': Alexander Robert Crawford in Manchuria 132

TRANSMISSIONS

Martin J. Mitchell
'In general, they do not answer well': Irish priests in the western lowlands of Scotland, 1838–50 147

Máirtín Ó Catháin
Fenian dynamite: dissident Irish republicans in late nineteenth-century Scotland 160

Lindsay Proudfoot
Landscape, place and memory: towards a geography of Irish identities in colonial Australia 172

Ian McClelland
Worlds apart: the Anglo-Irish gentry migrant experience in Australia 186

Jason King
Ireland abroad/broadening Ireland: from famine migrants to asylum-applicants and refugees 202

Notes on contributors 215

Index 217